

Before the Saturday afternoon session, the group was chatting and a question was asked about the merging of the Soul and Spirit. The official recording was not yet turned on, but the transcriber turned on her hand held recorder to capture this response. The quality of that recording is quite squeaky – not good to listen to.

But here is Joan's beautiful answer word for word.

Question: You're talking about Soul and Spirit, as if Spirit was over the Soul. Are you talking about All That Is?

Joan: Soul-Spirit. We have merged our Soul in Spirit, unified it, to a degree, over the years. But all these Energetics that are coming in now help us to get the communication, a clear communication, from the perspective of Spirit, which is US as the Divine Image of the All That Is, in its perfected image. So that then begins, with these activations, begins to transmit in a very coherent way into the Soul.

So the Soul is a vehicle from which we have an individualized experience in a body. In pure Spirit, we have no body, we have no individualization – we are pure Spirit, One with the All That Is.

So, in this merged state of SoulSpirit, the Soul and the Spirit merge, so that we can have the benefit of Spirit, of the All That Is, never ever separated from it, but having this Soul to allow us to have an individualized experience in form. And now these Initiations or these activations have allowed the Spirit to directly influence the Soul, which influences us as the individual creator in a body, from the perspective of our original state of Being, which is pure Spirit.
